

WESTMINSTER ENERGY™

WITH INLINE POLICY

Annual International Climate Policy & Carbon Markets Business Conference

“Crunch Time on Climate: Why COP-21 Matters, and the Key Indicators to Watch Before & After”

Friday 6th Nov 2015 am @ DLA Piper, 3 Noble Street London EC2V 7EE, London

EVENT SCHEDULE

8.30 Registration & refreshments

9.10 Seating

9.20 Session One: KEYNOTE: 'OPENING CHALLENGE' TO THE COP

CHAIR - Andreas Gunst, Partner, DLA Piper

Implications of climate change for global security: feedback from Paris pre-COP workshop

Chris Lambert, Director, Westminster Energy

9.30 What would constitute success, from a UK perspective, at the COP? Challenges to overcome and how to measure outcomes.

Sir David King, Foreign Secretary's Special Representative for Climate Change

PANEL:

The context of climate trends and international negotiations: Parliamentary considerations

Huw Irranca-Davies. Chair, Environmental Audit Select Committee - House of Commons

China's ambitions for global carbon reduction: a key role to play

Ms. Yang, Counselor, Head of Policy Planning, Embassy of China

Critical review of the COP-21 developments to date

Pilita Clark, Environment Correspondent - Financial Times

11.00 Coffee Break

11.45 Session Two

CHAIR - James Cameron, Chairman, Overseas Development Institute

Evaluating the effectiveness of private climate finance, and the future contexts for subsidies

Shelagh Whitley, Research Fellow Climate & Environment - Overseas Development Institute

Stranded asset potential, and the accelerating impact of carbon liabilities

Anthony Hobley, CEO - Carbon Tracker

Post-COP pragmatism: critical political actions required to ensure low carbon infrastructure delivery

Alastair Harper, Political Director - Green Alliance

Implications of investment patterns in cleantech following a global step change post-COP

Tom Murley, Director and Head of Renewable Energy - HgCapital

13:00 Summary and Close